SENIOR H. Y. P. SOCIAL WITH HALLOWEEN FEATURES

About twenty-five members of the Senior society of the H. Y. P. U. of the Central Baptist church met at the church parlors Monday evening and enjoyed an evening of fun in celebration of Halloween's approach.

As usual there were many Halloween games played, among them bobbing for apples, in which the usual winning was the outcome before the elusive apple was snipped by the teeth of the "bobbers." The fortune hunt, web of fate and candle snuffing were also enjoyed. A feature of the stunts of the evening was the "detour." Cards marked detour had been placed at the main entrance, and by following them the guests were forced to walk about the dark for many extra steps before reaching the hall.

Refreshments of doughnuts, coffee, sandwiches, and fortune tellings and games were served, the fortune tellers read aloud adding to the enjoyment of the repeat.

The success of the party was due to the work of the committee comprised Miss Eugene Dean, Miss Goldie Monaghan, Miss Harriet Williams, Miss Elizabeth Williams, and Carl Brand.

Fourth Birthday Party.

SEEKING BETTER PROTECTION AT SOUTH GOLDEN STREET CROSSING

The grade crossing accident at Eighth street Sunday morning, when a man and his horse were struck and killed by a locomotive, called fresh attention to efforts that have been made this year to secure better protection at another grade crossing on the same line of railroad—the crossing at South Golden street. This crossing is used by the employees of the Corticelli Silk company (formerly Brainerd & Armstrong), the Atlantic Cable corporation and the Shepley Coal and Lumber company.

The Corticelli Silk company has taken special interest in the attempt to get better protection at the crossing. As late as Oct. 13 the company took data of the use of this crossing between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. By observation the following statistics were secured for that day:

Persons who used crossing, 555
Trucks crossing, 29
Automobiles crossing, 17
Bicycles crossing, 1

Total, 592

Early in June the Corticelli Silk company started an effort to get a signal bell placed at the crossing. D. E. Ackroyd, representing the company, called on the railroad officials with the request for the signal bell. In response the following letter was received:

The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co. Central New England Railroad Co.

Norwich, Conn.

Dear Sir: Referring to your call at my office a few weeks ago concerning installation of a crossing bell at South Golden street in the vicinity of your mill, I have given this matter very careful consideration and consulted with my associates and superiors on the subject and I have also looked over the ground personally. Of course you know that South Golden street is not a public highway. We have on the railroad thousands of private crossings and we are not required by Public Service Commissions of the various states to sound any warnings at private crossings but we do erect crossing bells at crossings where the information that the crossing in question is private and due care must be exercised by those who use it. Notwithstanding this we are always willing and anxious to do anything we can to make safe all crossings on our railroad and we have in view track changes in the immediate vicinity of South Golden street which will be required by law by Public Service Commissions of the various states to sound any warnings at private crossings but we do erect crossing bells at crossings where the information that the crossing in question is private and due care must be exercised by those who use it. Notwithstanding this we are always willing and anxious to do anything we can to make safe all crossings on our railroad and we have in view track changes in the immediate vicinity of South Golden street which will be required by law by Public Service Commissions of the various states to sound any warnings at private crossings but we do erect crossing bells at crossings where the information that the crossing in question is private and due care must be exercised by those who use it.
